

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION

The objectives of the study entitled The Struggles of An Inferior Woman in Charlotte Bronte's Jane Eyre are: (1) to describe the inferiority of main character in the novel, and (2) to analyze how Jane Eyre struggle for her emancipation. Library research including internet browsing is used to find the related theories, to form the conceptual models. The conceptual models are used to find the data. The data corpus of this research is all of words, phrases, clauses sentences and even paragraphs and discourses, which have relationship with the main character's The Struggle of An Inferior Woman in Charlotte Bronte's Jane Eyre publishing by Pocket Books, Inc in New York, N.Y in the year of 1956. Sociological and psychological approach is used to analyze the data.

Firstly, there are three aspects that make Jane inferior, namely Jane's inferior treatment done by all members of her aunt's family at Gateshead. Jane has inferior social status because she comes from low class. Jane's inferior education can be seen when she is ten years old but does not go to school yet because of having no money. Secondly, the struggles of Jane Eyre's for her emancipation are: Jane's struggle for better treatment, social status, and education. Jane's struggle for better treatment can be seen when she is against all unfair treatments since she is a child. Through the tyrannical treatment, Jane develops is become a woman with strong personality. Her mental strength shows she is an independent woman. Jane's struggle for better social status can be seen when she begins to think to get a job. She wants to be a governess for children under fourteen years old. Fortunately, she gets a better position to be a teacher. Jane's struggle for better education can be seen when she and Mr. Rochester discuss intellectual equality. Jane who establishes a school for the poor children also shows Jane's struggle for a better education. Jane is struggle for better education because she has motivation to change the life of her pupils. Jane's struggle for better education can also be seen when she gets a change for the better scholars.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

- Abrams, M.H. 1981. The Norton Anthology of English Literature. 4th Edition. New York: Holt, Rinehart and Winston.
- Bronte, Charlotte. 1956. Jane Eyre. London: Dean and Son, Ltd.
- Edgar, V. Robert and Hendry E. Jacobs. 1989. An Introduction to Reading and Writing. Englewood Cliffs: Prentice Hall.
- Gorham, Deborah. 1982. The Victorian Girl and Feminism Ideal. Bloomington: Indiana.
- Gorsky, Susan R. 1992. Feminity to Feminism: Women and Literature in the Nineteenth Century. New York: Macmillan.
- Griffith, Kelley. 1949. Writing Essays about Literature. Sandiago: Harcourt Brace Jovanovich.
- Holman, C. Hugh and William Harmor. 1949. A Handbook of Literature. New York: Macmillan.
- <http://www.cliffsnotes.com/> (accessed on May 10,2007)
- Humm, Maggie. 1989. Feminism Critism. Boston: G.K Halland Co.
- Jones, Edward H. 1968. Outline of Literature. New York: the Macmillan Company.
- Kennedy, X. J. 1970. An Introduction to Fiction, Poetry and Drama. Toronto: Little Brown and Company Limited.
- Kenney, William K. 1966. How to Analyze Fiction. New York: Monarch Press.
- Klein, Joan L.K. 1984. Daughters, Wives and Widows: Writing by Man about Women and Marriage in England. London: University of Illinois.
- Morris, William. 1996. The American Heritage Dictionarry of the English Language. New York: American Heritage Publishing Co. Inc.
- Pickering, James H. and Jeffrey D. Hoeper. 1981. Literature. New York: Macmillan Pub, Co.

- Robert, Scholes. 1977. Literature: Reading Fiction, Poetry, Drame and the Essay.
New York: McGraw-Hill pub. Co.
- Scott, Wibur S. 1962. Five Approaches of Literary Critism. London: Collier Macmillan Publisher.
- Shipley, William. http://www. Artbook. Co.uk (accessed on March 31, 2006).
- Stachey, Ray. 1989. A History of the Women's Movement in Great Britain.
London: G.Bell and Sons, Ltd.
- Stanton, Robert. 1965. An Introduction to Fiction. New York: Holt, Rinehart and Winston Inc.
- United Nations. 1991. Women. New York: United Nations.