

Chapter IV

Conclusion

Literature is a literary work, which expresses and communicates thought, feelings, and attitudes toward life through a written language. Poetry is a literary work in poetry; we can find many experiences of our life in accordance with the view that poetry expresses the poet's own mind, imagination and feelings. Romantic Poets take of their subject matter, not the action of other men but experiences thought, and feelings of the poets who wrote them, William Blake is one of the poets from Romantic period. Blake gives his messages. For the readers by traditional language of his great predecessors, he uses figurative sense or figure of speech like metaphor, personification hyperbole, beside that he also uses symbol in his poems which misrepresent in Blake's poems. Morality means formation and discussion of principle which always refers to the good and bad behavior of human being. Morality is point about right and wrong justice or standard of good behavior, the term morality is commonly found out in some literary works, so the term moral means the work refers to an action or person in so far as either is considered wrong or bad.

After analyzing the poems of William Blake the writer concludes that, the life of human being differs from other man if depends on his or her attitude when lives in society. Human being lived in varied societies which every society has different morality standard. Every human being has many problems in his life, to solve it, depends on his personality. Every person wants to get something good in all condition and situation. However, morality of society becomes the object of life such as, wrong, right, justice, power and love.

In William Blake Three poems the Writer can find social Morality used for conduct of our act when we life together in our Relationship with God. Every human being has love relationship with other person, God and our environment. In William Blake's poems, the writer finds forms of the Language which tell us about moral value. Writer finds some symbols and figuratively language which it contains meaning expressing about moralities.

Through the poems of William Blake, the reader wants to know what the meaning of the moral value of love, benevolence, peace which gives him happiness in this life. Sometimes people try to convey accurate information in society will be better. Furthermore, the write hopes that from the meaning of this poem, the readers take lessons from the bad effects of society and try to avoid them. After read this writing, the readers know what the Morality Standard when make relationship in their society.

Bibliography

- Abram, MH. 1962. The Norton Anthology of English Literature. New York: W.M Norton & Company Inc.
- Alexander, L.G. 1993. Poetry and Appreciation for Overseas Students. London: Longman Limited.
- Durkheim, Emile. 1965. Moral Education. London : Coller Macmillan Publishers.
- Hadi, Sutrisno. 1986. Metodologi Research. Yogyakarta : Yayasan Penerbitan Fakultas Psikologi, UGM.
- Hudson, William Henry. 1965. An Introduction to the Study of Literatures. London : George Harrap and Co. Ltd.
- Jones, Edward, H. 1981. An Outline of Literature. New York: The Macmillan
- Kenney, William. 1966. How to Analysis Fiction. New York : Monarch Press
- Purwa, H. 1990. Moral dan Masalahnya. Yogyakarta : Kencana.
- Robert Dunn. 1984. Ernest Heming Way's the Son. Yogyakarta : Kencana
- Taylor. W. 1975. Principle of Ethics. Calofornia : Wadsworth Publishing Company Belmont.
- Internet, www.Hyperbole Yahoo.com
- Internet, www.Personification Yahoo.com
- Internet, www.Simile Yahoo.com
- Warren and C Brooks. 1960. Understanding Poetry. New York : Holt Rinehart and Winstop.